

Do Not Ignore the Truth

Let's play fair.

There's a limit to what we know.

It appears the more we learn,
the more we know we do not know.

The search for knowledge brings more questions.

To play fair means to admit that we do not know.

This makes life easier.

Let "the infinite intelligence that knows" handle the daily activities of things void of knowledge.