

Embracing Our Guardian Archetype

God is a guardian, an usher, guaranteeing us a home. As you embrace your guardian archetype, you embrace your connection and oneness with God.

The guardian is the light, the bringer of peace. Right action is a breath-by-breath, moment-by-moment checking in, a continuous practice of discernment, of sharing God's love.

Be the light, the guardian, by allowing life to do what it does best, directing each of us to a path of peace, of bliss, and of a conscious connection to God, to all that is, all that has always been, and all that will always be — Love!

Surrender into this embrace. Dissolve into something higher. Merge with guardian. Dance with the guardian archetype. Give up your identity and embrace the higher self, the self that resides in the selflessness.

Touch deep, who you are, who we are. And as the dance of recognition burns undeniably out of control, engulfing all that is, be thankful for the opportunity to step in time.

Michael A. Scimeca (May 20, 2001)